“I love considering the future of design through our product development processes”

- Roy Zaki

PRESIDENT & CEO

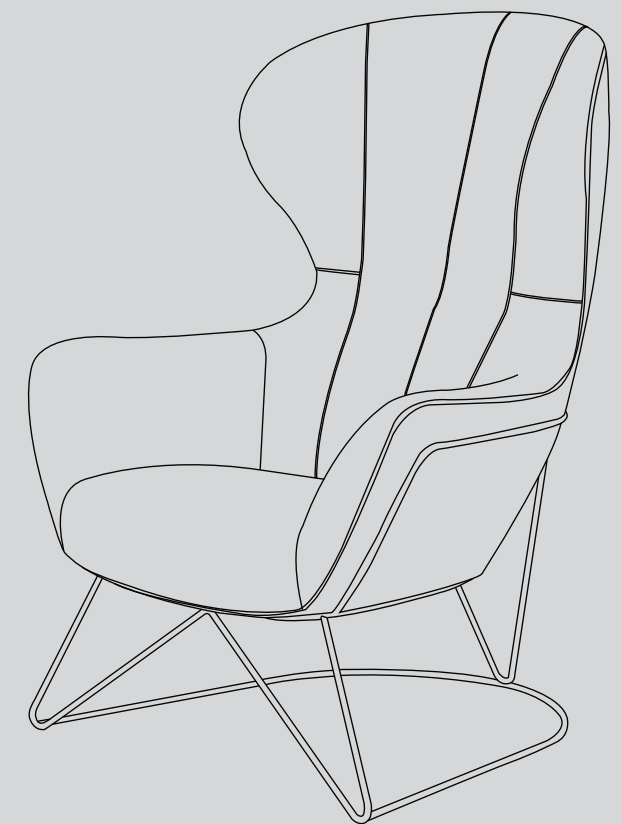

■ ROY ZAKI

As President, Roy Zaki is active in virtually every department and stage of development at ERG International. While he grew up with the company, working with founder George Zaki, Roy officially started in 1993 immersing himself in all aspects of the business starting with streamlining operations and purchasing. Eventually he became more and more involved with the front end of the business, working with our sales reps across the country and new product development – which continues to be his passion and favorite aspect of his role with ERG.

When he's not focused on developing or designing solution-forward products, you can often find Roy either showing off our factory to customers and designers alike or rocking out to Metallica before webinars to rally our sales troop together. And the vision for ERG moving forward? Staying true to our roots and focused on the products that have made us successful! Our biggest change will be a continued focus on sustainability – doing our part as an American manufacturer to ensure that our products, new and existing, are helping to preserve what our world has now well into the future.
